In a world ravaged by climate catastrophe and human conflict, a small group of survivors embarks on a perilous journey to reach a Keep—one of the last safe havens before an apocalyptic storm renders the earth uninhabitable. To gain entry, each must endure a Reckoning, a tense, one-minute evaluation proving their usefulness to the new society. As desperation builds and betrayals come to light, they face impossible choices about survival, sacrifice, and what it truly means to be “worth keeping.”

The production simulates storms and contains loud noise and flashing light. It also includes subtle non-explicit conversation about self-harm.

Worth Keeping is presented with permission from Drama LLama
