TERRA HODGE

Terra Hodge currently serves as the Director of Education at Raleigh Little Theatre. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Theatre Education from North Carolina Central University and her Master of Arts degree in Media Arts from Long Island University, Brooklyn Campus. Prior to joining RLT, Terra was a Theatre Arts teacher where she was recognized as the 2017 – 2018 Culbreth Middle School Teacher of the Year and was named an Honor Teacher for Chapel Hill – Carrboro City Schools. In addition to being a public school educator, she coordinated and implemented youth programming for The Justice Theatre Project from 2012 – 2019. Terra has worked as a teaching artist, actor, and director with many local theatre companies. She directed Agape Theatre Project's production of Crowns that was featured at the 2024 International Black Theatre Festival.

DREW MATTHEWS

Drew Matthews is the Creative Director of in-STUDIO, one of the top training facilities for teen actors in the United States. He has guided students who have gone on to become Netflix Series Regulars and appear in several Oscar-nominated films. A professional SAG-AFTRA actor, Drew has performed roles on NBC, CBS, and ABC, with larger recurring roles on HBO Max, Hulu, and Disney+. He studied classical methods such as Meisner, Chekhov, and the Alexander Technique, and now focuses primarily in on-camera training. At in-STUDIO, Drew creates all of the actor training curriculum, focusing on helping each actor grow through a mix of creativity, structure, and clear progress markers.

CONCORD ACADEMY PERFORMING ARTS PRESENTS

THE LAST TURNING

For 200 years, the people of Pendel have trusted the Great Clock to keep their city—and their lives—running. Rahab, a fiercely loyal Wall Foreman, has devoted her life to protecting her family and keeping the city's walls standing, even as the oil runs out and the machinery begins to fail. But when two outsiders expose a devastating secret hidden at the heart of Pendel, Rahab must choose between protecting the world she knows and risking everything for the truth.

In this steampunk reimagining of the Biblical story of Rahab and the walls of Jericho, the Great Clock begins its final countdown. One question remains:

When the walls come down, will your Legacy be built on Fear or Truth?

Providence Day School Proudly Presents

The WOMEN Of Lockerbie

Place: The rolling green hills of Lockerbie, Scotland, where Pan Am Flight 103 crashed.
Time: December 21, 1995, the 7-year anniversary of the crash.

Directors' Note

The Women of Lockerbie is beautifully written in the form of a Greek tragedy, because the terrorist bombing of Pan Am 103 can only be described as a tragedy. As Olive (one of the women of Lockerbie) explains early in the play, "when evil comes into the world, it is the job of the witness to turn it to love". This play became our act of witness.

As we began approaching the work of telling this story, we looked at its themes of love, grief, hate, hope, and activism. The actors created their own rehearsal norms to approach this difficult work with respect, generosity, communication, dedication, and fearlessness. Through research, exercises, and rehearsals that pushed us all out of our comfort zones, we found a way to attempt to honor every life touched by this tragedy.

We turned to each other and leaned on each other to lean into the story, just as the women united to protect the belongings of the victims. We worked to put parts of the story into our own words to get to the core of what the characters are going through. This proved to be a powerful tool to understand an event so horrific it feels impossible to believe it happened. In the end, we stood alongside the brave women of Lockerbie to demand that "hatred will not have the last word in Lockerbie."
